Domination Members May Go on Strike

OTTAWA.—The high and gay life of a representative of the common people at Canada's capital costs more than $4,000 a year, not to mention the regular business and a thousand other items, Mr. and Senators at Ottawa have been asserting with no uncertain voice during the session now nearing its close. In fact rumor has it that the Conservative caucus laid down the law very emphatically to Opposition Leader Bennett the other day, and presented him with the alternative of empty back benches or a raise in the indemnity to $6,000 at least. Liberal members as said to have whispered ever so softly that if Mr. Bennett found it necessary to divide the house on the issue, the voter would not be on strict party lines. Apparently it is of no avail, however, for that the present session will not see the desired increase.

At Confederation parliamentarians received a seasonal indemnity of $2,500. Later it was raised to $5,000, then to $2,500 and in 1920 was raised to $4,000. Miss Agnes Macphail thought $2,500 was enough and during the life of the parliament which opened after the election of 1921 Miss Macphail refused to accept more than $2,500, having $1,000 in the treasury. Since then, however, she has found $2,500 too little, $4,000 not too much and $6,000 would be about right.

The present demand is for a $2,000 increase, making $6,000. Although it is known as a seasonal indemnity it can only be collected once a year. If two sessions of parliament take place in the same year, only one seasonal indemnity is paid. Both Liberals and Conservatives have brought the matter up repeatedly in caucus and at times have grown restive under the curb of their leaders who refused to consider it. The prime minister gets $15,000 and his indemnity of $4,000 and the leader of the opposition $10,000 and $4,000. Cabinet ministers at $6,000 and $4,000.

The demand comes chiefly from Ontario and Quebec members but the real sufferers are the maritime and western members. The Ontario and Quebec members can get home for week-ends during the session and in these week-ends direct their businesses for the ensuing week. Those capital are unable to get home at all who come from areas remote from the during the session, except perhaps at Easter. There is a tentative proposal that the distant members should get an extra living allowance, but this would arouse such a furor among the other members that it will not be considered.

Every time the commons have voted an increase in indemnity the senators have demanded one also.

D. F. Boissevain's Death on Wednesday

The death of Mr. D. F. Boissevain took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Win Riddon on Tuesday morning, June 26th.

After supper on Saturday night, Mr. Boissevain was taken sick, and early on Sunday morning he lapsed into unconsciousness due to the attack of a paralytic stroke, from which he recovered consciousness only for a short period.

Mr. Boissevain came to this country from Hilversum, Holland, about 1881, and took up a homestead near Moose Lake, Sask. where he raised a reputable herd of purebred Danish cattle in 1905 Mr. and Mrs. Boissevain and family went to live at Los Angeles, California, at which place the mother of his children, died about ten days after his daughter was born, and returned to this country in March 1906, making his home at Strathmore ever since.

Mr. Boissevain came from a well known family in Holland, being in the banking business for a number of years.

During his stay in Alberta, Mr. Boissevain took a very active part in the U.F.W., and was often heard at the conventions in the early stages of that organization, also through the press.

In 1911 he married the late C. Mary Boissevain a friend of his boyhood days.

To mourn the loss of their father are three sons and one daughter: M. B. Boissevain, of San Rafael, Cal.; S. F. Boissevain, of St. Louis, Mo.; H. T. Boissevain, of Strathmore, and Mrs. Win. Riddon, of Strathmore.

The funeral will take place from the Anglican Church on Friday afternoon, June 28th, at 2:30 o'clock, interment in Strathmore Cemetery.

Drivers Warned Against Hikers

All over the country, war is being declared on "hitch hikers" or "ride beggars". The feeling among motor clubs is that this is something that must be stamped out and the sooner the better.

The season is now about to open for these "chummy tourists" so motorists are urged to be on their guard, no matter how sympathetic they may feel to the roadside applicant. It is from all standpoints a perilous practice, fraught with grave dangers to the car owner who has nothing as to the identity of the stranger.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have on numerous occasions sounded a warning as to this "picking up" practice which, no doubt, is just as common in this province as in other parts of the country. Two often, owners of cars have found themselves looking as calmly as possible into the barrel of a revolver, or finding it necessary to lose no time in turning the car over to the mercuries of the stranger.

Genuine cases, in which lifts would no doubt be justified, and indeed, are discovered from time to time. But the fact that grave dangers are risked in a large number of cases makes it imperative that car owners be urged to utilize the space in their machines for themselves, their families or their friends.

LORD BEAVERBROOK REMEMBERS TEACHER WITH ANNUITY OFFER

By John Harrison

FREDERICTON, N. B.—Thirtieth to forty years ago, one of the aspiring young students at Hartin's Academy in Newcastle was a promising lad called Max Altkens. He had a hearty boyish admiration for the headmaster, Philip Cox.

The boy of those days is now Lord Beaverbrook and one of the most striking figures of present-day journalism, but his affection for his teenage master is something which he has never forgotten. The former principal of Hartin's Academy, now professor of social history and geology at the University of New Brunswick, has just received a cable from the British publisher offering to Dr. and Mrs. Cox, annually, an annuity of one thousand dollars.

Sent on the occasion of Lord Beaverbrook's fifteenth birthday, the gift is a token of his gratitude in youth and friendship in middle age.

To Dr. Cox, the message came as a complete surprise. The kindness of his former pupil touched him deeply and particularly as he commented to interviewers, since such remembrance of an old teacher is no common occurrence. But this was not the first time, the professor added, that the Canadian-born peer had made a generous expression of his gratitude to the educationists of his native province.

One a few years ago, more than forty New Brunswick high school teachers, toured Great Britain and part of Europe as the guests of Lord Beaverbrook. Both Dr. and Mrs. Cox were in the party at that time and, while in London, were presented to the King and Queen.

Nightingale Dance Decided Success

On Friday, June 7th the Balmire U.F.W.A. held their annual spring dance at Nightingale Hall. The weather the crowd, the music, all conspired to produce a rattling good time, and one of the best dances of the season. The dance was a success from every viewpoint, financial and otherwise. The prize waltz was won by Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer. The prize basket offered by Miss Emily Lambourne, was won in the raffish by Miss Mary Colbert, Balmire. And there were other reasons for the success of the dance, which we should like to mention here. The co-operation of the Nightingale U.F.W.A. orchestra, of all those in the district, the music, the Strathmore orchestra, in rhythm, harmony and low price, unequalled in our opinion. Mr. Gann has an orchestra that is a credit to him and to Strathmore; the pep and energy of those ladies who worked to make the dance a success; and last but not least, the generous spirit of the merchants of Strathmore in the matter of buying the tickets. It was, of course, occasionally good to Strathmore, but Rockyford is the nearer town, and we do our buying and selling chiefly there. But when we canvassed Strathmore for possible buyers, we were impressed by their generous spirit. Those, who had no idea of going, gave, and with a smile. It was a gracious nature, and good business too. We take this occasion to thank the merchants of Strathmore for their kind co-operation. For the benefit of those individuals who are not subject to gracious impulses, we would repeat for their enlightenment—"It is good business to give." Finally, if there is a moral to this, or a slogan to be coined, it very well might be "Be Balmire in Strathmore."

VERY BAD WAY NOW

VANCOUVER, B.C.—The omens of the west coast are in danger and the farmers of the open spaces have been appealed to for aid.

When the Saskatchewan Grain Commission came to the shores of the Pacific from the middle west, a day was devoted to hearing the tribulations of the coastal poultry industry for help. Landlarks which the egg industry faces.

Feed is high-priced and unless some way is devised of cutting the costs of coarse grains, the hens of the Fraser River Valley may go hungry. The feed comes from the prairies and freight rates are given as the crux of the situation.

Saskatchewan farmers get 30 cents a bushel for feed at the elevators. It was stated to the Commission, but the poultry producer pays nearly $2 for the same commodity. Unless the spread for hauling and handling can be reduced, the poultry ranches will be forced into the discard, it is asserted.

Many agriculturists deserted the level wheat fields for the beauty of mountain scenery. Now, they declare, they wish they were back on the prairies. In the meantime, they and their poultry raising neighbours are calling upon the mid-westerner for help in their campaign for cheaper fodder for the egg producers.

CANADIAN PACIFIC CROP REPORT

Crops in northeastern Alberta are suffering from want of moisture, and conditions in other portions of the province are generally favorable. Last week's weather changed from early heat to cool during the middle, with a few degrees of frost in Red Deer and Alberta Central subdivisions. Scattered rains to heavy showers were received, but mostly in the south where crop and moisture conditions are excellent, with wheat from four to four

SPORT NOTES

TORONTO—Will Jack Guest displace his clubmate, Joe Wright, Jr., from the sculling throne of the world? Or will Bobby Pearce, the silent Australian, take the cake this year at the Royal English Henley?

Wright is now at Henley-on-Thames, scene of the Diamond Sculls classic, to be held early in July. Guest, his team-mate from the Argonaut Club, Toronto, has been there since winter and has been working out daily for the last two months. No definite word has been received lately from the Antipodes as to Bobby Pearce, but in all likelihood the big Anzac will be on hand.

What a classic race it will be! Lee the Englishman, is no mean threat himself, and several noted coaches have picked him to be in the final. Wright fears only one man, Pearce. He has always beaten Guest—sculler. But this year it may be different. One of England's greatest coaches has just picked Guest and Lee as the final choice, with the former having the edge.

There are those here who feel that Guest can offset any advantage Wright may have in weight and strength by smooth sculling and by being used to the conditions and the water in England. In any event it is doubtful if two scullers as good as Wright and Guest have ever been produced by the same club in the same years in Canada, at least. If Guest has improved this year, certainly Wright has not fallen behind as witness his easy triumph over Kenneth Myers, the Philadelphia freeman, here a few days before he left for England.

The two Canadian entrants in the big race have had interesting rowing careers. They were both born on the same day. Young Wright became acquainted with racing shells long before Guest. In fact he has only about six when he first started to eye racing shells carefully and decide whether he would strike an eight or row single. His father was then coach of the Argonaut Rowing Club when it was situated on Toronto Bay.

When he was fifteen he started to row in Argonaut eights under the direction of his father and stroked several winning crews. Joe Wright, Sr. was coach of the University of Pennsylvania then.

In his first years of racing in a single Jack Guest won the junior Canadian championship and the association singles. Wright won the open singles.

It is no secret that the Diamonds this year is to Guest a chance at vindication. Last year Wright, despite the protests of Guest's backers, was given the call over the latter for the right to represent Canada in the Olympic singles.

The overworked Wright was beaten. Upon returning to Canada both scullers began to prepare for this year's diamond sculls race. During the winter they trained on the mud lines. Early this year Jack Guest called for England, bought a new shell to suit his weight and took up training on the Henley course under one of the best coaches in England.

He has been carefully training ever since. Rowing twice a day, improving his style, getting off the start fast, learning the trick of the course, spotting landmarks and generally preparing for the big race.

Wright was unable to get in much training here during March and April on account of rough water, but since then made wonderful progress.

Joe Wright Jr., of Toronto, who will defend the Diamond Sculls at Henley Regatta this year, covered the course in eight minutes, 17 seconds, in a trial yesterday. In winning the premier single sculls event of the amateur regatta world last year, the Toronto Argonaut sculler's time was eight minutes, 21 seconds. The record for the event was made by V. S. Kelly, of the Leander Rowing Club, London, who won the event in eight minutes, 10 seconds.

TWO GIRL CHAMPIONS
"ALIKE AS TWO PEAS"

TORONTO—Almost alike as two peas, Dorothy Widmer, 17-year-old Seattle swimmer, and Ethel Catherwood, the world's greatest girl jumper, provide a remarkable case of resemblance.

Dorothy Widmer arrived in Toronto this week to start training for the women's ten-mile swim marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition in July and sport followers were instantly struck by the likeness she bore to Miss Catherwood, the statuesque beauty who came out of the Canadian West to win world honors for Canada at the last Olympics.

There is no distinction between the two, however—Miss Widmer has red hair.

The newcomer has not yet met her more famous "twin" since for the past few days Miss Catherwood has been confined to hospital nursing a torn ligament, sustained when training for this season's meet. It may be that she will have to forego athletic competition entirely this year.

Miss Widmer won the right to enter for world swimming honors as a result of her victory in the Post-Intelligence swim at Seattle.

This is the first time Miss Widmer has entered a race of ten miles, but this does not dishearten her, for she is used to swimming in the cold waters of the ocean sands at Seattle. "I think this year's race will be more of a test of speed than it has been in past years," said Miss Widmer. "Other years the races were a test of endurance, but so much study has been made of swimming lately that it is now comparatively easy and more concentration can be made on speed."

CHANCES AT BISLEY ARE GOOD THIS YEAR

TORONTO—Canada's chances at Bisley this year are considered to be very good, at least that is the view taken by Lieut.-Col. G. T. Chisholm, commanding the Canadian team.

Marksmen from all over the empire gather at the little Surrey village to match their skill with the service rifles. This year new conditions will have to be faced, and there will have to be a lot of good shooting to come up to the record made by Miss M. E. Foster on the new targets, who shot a maximum 195.

In the big team competitions the Canadians have proved their high average skill time and again. Since 1922 Canada has won the famous Imperial Kolapore trophy no fewer than 12 times! And the other great team trophy, the MacKinnon Cup, they have won. Last year the Canadians as a team did not do so well for they lost both the Kolapore and the MacKinnon trophies, but individually they were as good as any team of recent years.

Lieut.-Col. G. T. Chisholm of the 45th Highlanders of Toronto, commanding the 1st Reserve Battalion and commander of this year's Bisley team, is the present chairman of the Ontario Provincial Rifle Association. He led the 92nd Highlanders in France during the war.

The adjutant this year is Capt. W.

There are eighteen official shooting members on the Canadian team. These members are determined each fall at the aggregate shoot at Ottawa. If a man comes in the first eighteen in the Bisley aggregate, he has earned his place on the team. This last Bisley aggregate shoot at Ottawa has fall saw four new men qualify. These four tyros are: Lieut. A. C. Carter of the Toronto Regiment; Staff-Sgt. H. Rusk of the Ottawa Highlanders; Bomb. P. Wilkinson of the B.C. Coast Brigade; and Capt. S. M. Beckingham, of the Toronto Regiment.

Among the "old hands" in this year's team is Lieut. Desmond Burke, the brilliant young Ottawa marksman. Burke was high scorer of the Canadian Bisley team last year with a record of 230 points out of a possible 235. It is known as the Grand Aggregate prize and the winner is undoubtedly the best shot of the year. Lieut. Burke made his first sensational visit to Bisley in 1924, when he carried off the King's Prize! He was only 19 years old then, and he beat the Emperor's crack shots to do this feat! He and C.S.M. W. A. Hawkins of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto, are the only two Canadians to accomplish this feat in their first visit to Bisley. Hawkins won the King's Prize in 1913.

The King's Prize is the highest honor in the Empire for marksmanship, and it is comprised of a gift of $1250 by His Majesty and the National Rifle Association's gold medal and gold badge, all of which go to the winner. The N.R.A. badge and $250 goes to the second man.

One of the members the other day jokingly gave away a bit of "inside news." It appears that Sgt. P. H. Radford of the Royal Grenadiers is making the Bisley trip serve for a honeymoon.

The team is made up of men coming from points as distant as Vancouver and Ottawa. Five men are from Toronto regiments. Ottawa is second in numbers with three. Four will come from the coast.

PHILADELPHIA SPORTSMAN PRESENTS TWO TROPHIES FOR CANADIAN SCULLERS

TORONTO—When George C. Mulroy founder of the Penn. A. C. and the Pauline Rowing Club of Philadelphia was here to attend the combined conference of officials of the N.A.A.U. and the C.A.A.A. in February, he promised James J. Dolan of the Argonaut Club, president of the Dominion Day Regatta Association, that he would do either one of two things: possibly both of them—get married and present the D.D.R.A. with a trophy. Whether or not he tied a knot with his tongue that he cannot undo with his teeth is still shrouded with mystery as far as Mr. Dolan is concerned, but a magnificent trophy for the senior eight race at the Dominion Day regatta has just arrived. And right along with it came one of the 125 pound eight at the Canadian Henley. The illustration accompanying shows the senior eight trophy for the Dominion Day regatta. It is easily the best individual trophy for rowing in Canada. It stands four feet high. The base is ebony surrounded with intricate inlay work. A silver, above this is a piece of green velvet and the surmounting figure is in solid bronze.

GOLD OF OLD FRANCE
BRINGS TREASURE HUNT TO CAPE BRETON DEEPS

HALIFAX, N.S.—For three summers a mysterious beautifully fitted chest known as "The Robin", under charter to Dr. F. L. Ball, of Boston, has slipped unaccountably into Cape Breton waters, making Louisbourg, once the proudest fortress of France in the new world her headquarters, and Fort Nova, near the ruins of Lorraine Head her scene of operations.

The same five men for three years made the trip to Cape Breton, spent their summers in the same way and maintained the same silence about their quest. Four of them are former Cape Breton natives. The fifth is Dr. Ball, a man of means with a soul for adventure. For three summers they preserved their secret, but now it is out.

"The Robin" bears a crew of treasure hunters and the gold they seek has been sunk for two hundred years under the shimmering cleaving waters that play about Fort Nova and fret the ledges of Lorraine Head, once known to history as Grand L'Anse-de-France. Thirty years before the siege of Louisbourg that gallant French ship, Chameau, with a passenger list of three hundred and ten people, including some of France's most illustrious names, and with two hundred and ninety thousand livres in gold, for the pay of the Yveco soldiers at Louisbourg, ran into a terrific gale which swept like a cyclone over Cape Breton and then known. The Chameau ran around and floundered and down into the deeps went the chests containing the treasure. Not one of the passengers of the crew survived.

In the summer of 1726 an effort was made to salvage the gold but those in charge became discouraged and abandoned the attempt. Cape the stormy days when England and France strove for supremacy and never another attempt was made until three summers ago, when Dr. Ball, who knows something of Acadia's ancient history, met some natives of Cape Breton and asked the matter over with them. "The Robin" made her first trip. She returned again and now, earlier than ever before, she has come back to Cape Breton making Louisbourg her headquarters.

So far have the exploration party proceeded with their plans that Dr. Ball in a up-to-date driver's outfit is daily exploring the dangerous hills and dunes of the ocean floor. But the treasure hunters refuse to be interviewed, they will make absolutely no statement and although they are closely watched their work has been carried on in a particularly sheltered but wild part of the coast, and no one knows if they have succeeded in finding any definite trace of the treasure which would amount to something over $50,000 in present day currency.

She sketched, in a very few words, her sister's political background. The minister-elect, first woman to hold office in a British cabinet, is no dreamer. Everything she does is practical—particularly if it affects Labor. Long years of experience in the actual conditions under which the workers of the Old Land live has made her thoroughly familiar with the problems now confronting her. She knows which schemes are visionary and which are sound. She knows where the shoe pinches most.

Nur is Britain's feminine leader an amateur in politics. It was a hobby, as her sister described it, long before it became her profession. She has studied the proceedings in that arena since her youth and there will be no ill-considered actions on the part of that governmental branch.

That she was the sister of Britain's pioneer among women cabinet ministers was a fact of which Miss S. A. Bondfield was entirely ignorant till she happened to read it in a Canadian paper. The news gave an added enjoyment to her Canadian tour. She told interviewers quite frankly that a close-up of Canada had been one of her ambitions for fifty years. She had waited patiently for the day and the actual trip was fulfilling all her expectations.

RESERVATION OF MINES AND MINERALS IN TAX SALE TITLES

The following very interesting legal point is discussed by Strathmore's Secretary-Treasurer in the Research Bulletin:

In the year 1917 a case—Town of Coleman vs. Head Syndicate—was decided in the Supreme Court of Alberta and is reported in "Alberta Law Reports" Vol. 11, Page 314.

Amongst other things the report says that minerals are not "land" within the meaning of The Town Act. Less than a quarter of a century ago in this jurisdiction in certificates of title given a purchaser of land his rights thereunder might be expressed in a well-known Latin maxim, a translation of which is "Whoso is the soil he is even to heaven and to the middle of the earth."

Later on in Alberta, with possible titles of minerals, the Dominion Government, the C.P.R. and Hudson Bay in transferring lands reserved the right to minerals, so that although a purchaser is monarch of all he surveyed heavenwards, he is not so "ad infinos".

In titles issued prior to the decision above referred to following tax for future proceedings a municipality was given (where it could be given) full rights in the land, but since then in such cases mines and minerals are reserved in titles taken by a town or given direct to a tax-sale purchaser, the mines and minerals being reserved to a defaulting taxpayer!

In my opinion this state of the law should be altered and a full and complete title given as formerly, because why should a who bought some land

He has defaulted in payment of taxes and no estate or interest whatever should be registered in his name, but should rest in name of the town to which he defaulted, so that a full and complete title could be passed on to a party acquiring from the owner of the town. I think that this matter might be discussed at our next Convention.

A novel form of entertainment for the Fall term will be a dramatic competition between the towns of the Bow Valley each town putting on a one act play. This might be a pleasing way for Principal Crowther to put in his spare time. How about it, Mr. Principal?

For example, said he, June 25, 1925, my output was 1,152 loaves, while on the same day this year I turned out 2,551, and that with a bun, which would send anybody but a cricketer, to barracks. swell public to the ears of the scores of cowboys who daily risk their life and limb during the championship-cowboy contests, will ring out with renewed vigor again this year, when the annual Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, where $70,000 in prizes and purses are offered, is held in Victoria Park, during the week of July 8 to 12, inclusive.

With the greatest list of purses and trophies ever offered for a frontier contest, Canadian and American cowboys are soaping their saddles and working up their ropes in preparation for the big western celebration, and even at this early date, the biggest entry of cowboy contestants in the history of The Stampede is expected.

Never before in the history of championship cowboy contests has as much money been offered for a bronk riding contest as is being offered at the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede this year. In the bronk riding championship with saddle, 14,655 alone is being offered, and spurred on by the fact that during the last six years, Canadian and American cowboys have just about broken even in the number of championships won, the "top" hands of each country will make an extra special effort to carry off the money, trophies and the beautiful trophies that go with them.

No sooner had the exhibition directors announced that it had been decided to raise first money in the open bronk riding contest to $1200 when I. W. C. Solloway, of the Solloway Mills, Ltd., stock brokers, of Calgary, stated that he was going to donate $1,125 to be added to the Stampede prize list. The fine gift was received with enthusiasm, and a new high record of $2,300 for first money in the open bronk riding contest was set.

Calgary will be en fete for the big western celebration this year, and Mayor F. E. Osborne, President N. J. Christie and the directors of the exhibition extend a hearty welcome to all visitors.

Exhibition entries close July 22nd, and Stampede entries close July 1st. Prize lists may be obtained on application to Guy Weadick, manager of the Stampede, or E. L. Richardson, General Manager, Exhibition Grounds, Calgary, Alberta.

Sunshine and Showers—New Version

Here is an interior of the new smoking-room, below a view of the rear and of the "Salutium" car. The lady on the right demonstrates the shower bath.

Over ninety thousand dollars have been spent on each of the new "Salutium" cars designed for use on the long-distance all sleeping car trains of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Fifteen of them have been built at the Company's Shops at Montreal, and the one pictured above: the River Thames, will be one of those in use on the Trans

Canada Limited. These cars are given over entirely to the use of the passengers and contain, among other things, two green-tinted shower baths, a ladies lounge, a large smoking-room, an observation lounge and a Solarium. The latter, which takes the place of the open platform, is a room in which admits all the beneficial sun rays, and permits an unbroken and novel design.

(Special to The Standard)

OTTAWA, Ont.—Canadians own from 55 per cent. to 65 per cent. of the securities of all enterprises located on Canadian soil. British investment in Canada at the beginning of 1928 was two-thirds that of United States investments in this country, or $2,209,517,000, as compared with $3,246,786,000. The total British and foreign investment in Canada at the time noted amounted to $5,745,045,000, the balance of $2,457,400,000 coming from alien countries other than the United States. These figures are disclosed in a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, just issued.

The report makes it clear that the figures are only estimated.

After detailing the amount of British and foreign investments as indicated in the foregoing, the report says:

"These large sums should be considered in the light of the fact that our national wealth is estimated to be between two and three billion dollars, or about five times the amount of outside capital invested. It is inevitable that our vast resources should be developed with the assistance of outside capital, but that outside capital is not the dominating factor in developing these resources is plain from the fact that Canadians are estimated to own from 55 per cent. to 65 per cent. of the securities of all enterprises located on Canadian soil. It should also be emphasized in this connection that Canadians have invested large amounts of capital abroad.

"The bureau estimated that Canadian investments in foreign countries amounted to $1,579,074,000 at the beginning of 1928, or more than a quarter of the amount of outside investments in Canada. Of this, $574-

696,000 was placed in the United States; $131,915,000 in Great Britain, and $372,533,000 in other countries."

The details of foreign investments show that $1,510,703,000 is in railways, with $1,313,182,000 in various government securities. In industry, pulp, paper and lumber are represented by $573,788,000 foreign capital; mining, $334,864,000; metal, $299,030,000, and all other industries, $558,765,000.

With regard to British investments in Canadian railways, these are considerably more than one-half of the outside capital placed in their railways, totalling $959,776,000. This compares with $269,463,000 invested in railways by United States capitalists.

Of government securities, United States financiers own $875,000,000, while Britons possess $449,862,000. Americans dominate the pulp, paper and lumber industries with $436,566,000 of the outside investments. In mining they own an interest to the extent of $224,914,500, metal, $241,316,000, and all other industries, $411,581,600.

TO SMOKE, OR NOT TO SMOKE IS NOW BURNING QUESTION AMONG PASTORAL CHURCHES OF EASTERN CHURCH FAITH

Nonagenarian divine, oldest Presbyterian moderator in Canada, champions weed—not among minor sins, he says.

By WHEELER J. THOMAS (Special to The Standard)

Toronto, Ont.—Whether the clergy may properly indulge in the solace of tobacco is an issue which still agitates the district council of the United Church, despite vigorous attempts to stifle the discussion.

The pastors on the pro side cling to their pipes and the opinion that the weed, in moderation, does not undermine the christian virtues. The anti-smoking resolution, presented to the Toronto Centre Presbytery by Rev. J. McKerr, provoked the future.

Though the great bulk of ministers believe it to be a matter which might well be left to the individual cleric, upon Helen was heard to say, "Never mind, if we get on the highway someone is bound to pick us up."

Helen Boyd, though not fourteen

Fresh impetus has been given to the discussion by the pronouncement of a veteran of the cloth, Rev. Dr. W. T. McMillen of Woodstock, Ont. At 98 years of age, he is active, hale and hearty and a pipe-smoker who sees nothing unchristian in the indulgence. Certainly, he does not class it among the minor sins.

"I smoke my pipe every day," he declares, "once after breakfast and once before retiring and I derive a great deal of comfort from it. Some of the best men I have known have been pipe-smokers. Moderately used, it does not unfit a man for any work."

While suffering from a throat infection at an early pastorate, he had been advised by a Methodist minister of the neighborhood to try tobacco for relief. The latter had himself been advised to use it by a physician.

"Before I went home, I bought myself a plug, a pipe and some matches," he explained, "Determined to gain relief from my throat trouble, I tried it and ever since, twice a day, I have indulged."

His health and longevity, the nonagenarian ascribes "to be goodness of God and careful habits." He still rises at 7 a.m. Moderation in all things is one of his cardinal principles, including moderation in religious disputes. He has an equal lack of enthusiasm for the extremist whether moderate or fundamentalist.

BROKEN LOVE AFFAIRS BLAMED IN DISAPPEARANCE OF GIRLS, 13

ORILLIA, Ont.—Broken love affairs are blamed here in the strange disappearance of two 13-year-old Orillia girls, Margaret Adams and Helen Boyd, who are now ostensibly having a taste of big city life while their parents anxiously await news of the pretty youngsters.

The girls both had boy friends much older than themselves, and they had been warned by the parents to keep away or they would call in the police.

The two errant ones were last seen at the station where the agent, on account of their tender years, refused to sell them railway tickets, whereupon Helen was heard to say, "Never mind, if we get on the highway someone is bound to pick us up."

until October, might well be thought seventeen. Her paramour is said to have proposed to her.

"She will never come back of her own accord," cried Mrs. E. M. Boyd, her mother. "She knows that she does wrong and will be ashamed and afraid to face me. I never had any trouble with her until these last few months, when she got into bad company. I want her back. She must come back. I don't know how I am to live without her."

Weighed and Found Worthy

You may feel perfectly assured in buying any product that is consistently advertised here in the pages of the Standard. Such a product has been weighed—and found worthy. Not necessarily by us—not by any committee on advertising integrity—but by the sternest judge of the last court of merchandising appeals—the buying public!

Advertising is merciless in its treatment of the unworthy product—it serves only to hasten its failure. No amount of advertising—no matter how skilfully done—can force a product of no merit on the public. They simply won't buy it.

It seems reasonable then, doesn't it, to believe that the manufacturer of any product to be offered to the public will see that it is worthy before he backs it with thousands—often millions—in advertising!

Read the advertisements in The Standard—they are reliable statements about reliable products.

"TUNNEY'S REPLY TO FOGARTY SUIT."

IS FILED TODAY

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—James J. (Gene) Tunney's answer to the $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, of Fort Worth, Texas, was filed in superior court, together with a counter claim.

Tunney's answer filed by Homer Cummings, of Stamford, his Connecticut attorney, reveals that Billy Gibson, the former heavyweight champion trainer, paid to Mrs. Fogarty the sum of $1 and $5,000 to "relinquish her claims on the defendant."

On receiving these sums, says the answer, Mrs. Fogarty signed a release.

$17,500 YEAR HORSE PLAYER.

$25,000 YEAR DIRT FARMER

EDMONTON, Alta. — Seventeen thousand five hundred dollars a year horse player, twenty-five thousand dollar Alberta dirt farmer, that's Eddie Shore, winter address, Boston, Mass.; summer address, Daugh, Alberta.

The $17,500 per is the valuation Eddie has placed on his services for next winter, and the chances are that his owners will come somewhere near meeting this demand, for the former Edmonton player is no slouch on the sled blades.

The $25,000 figure is the estimate of a reporter for the Edmonton Journal who motored out to Daugh as to the value of the agricultural holdings of the celebrated hockey-farmer.

Take this figure or leave it, just as you like, but Eddie Shore paid a cool $10,000 for his splendid 32-acre farm at Daugh, and the chances are with the implements and what not that it now boasts, the $25,000 figure is somewhere near correct.

Eddie is one of the most popular players who ever wore an Eskimo sweater. He has made friends wherever he has gone and in this city particularly Mr. Shore is a prime favorite.

It was, probably, only natural that Eddie should purchase land close to Edmonton.

Is Eddie making good? Well, rather. He has 170 acres sown to wheat and this fall expects to reap quite a harvest. He has fourteen barns, a class of 400 chickens, splendid cattle and buildings. He has all the machinery the very latest models in everything that is supposed to make up a modern farm. What is more, Eddie knows each piece of the intricate machinery and enjoys doing 10 to 12 hours work every day on his farm.

Eddie has every opportunity to live the life of Riley. He does not.

arrived back in the city after the Boston Bruins had won the world's professional hockey championship. He was here two days. That was not enough. He immediately went to the farm and has been there every day since.

Up at five-thirty o'clock each week-day, out on the fields at seven o'clock, back for dinner at 12, and out again to the fields at one o'clock and remaining there until seven each night—Eddie's everyday schedule.

Eddie is planning to have one of the finest farms in the entire district.

He will have a beautiful bungalow, a big ribbed roof barn, an ideal machine shop, and there will be everything on the land that any successful farmer should have.

"It will take time," said Eddie; "but in two years' time I should have all the buildings up that I am planning."

"Then I will have sufficient cattle, Holsteins, most likely; not very many horses, because machinery is better; plenty of chickens, pigs, and everything else."

Eddie does not talk about himself. He is one tough hombre from whom to get an interview. But a visit to the farm will convince anyone about Eddie's work there and the things he plans to do.

This year Art Ross of the Boston Bruins will have to pay $17,500 to Eddie for the winter's work on the team or he will be forced to do without the greatest defence player in the world. Arthur, despite the fact that it may grieve him greatly to part with such an amount, will pay it, for Mr. Ross knows his hockey players and he knows Eddie Shore.
